

2-14-1964

The Hilltop 2-14-1964

Hilltop Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_196070

Recommended Citation

Staff, Hilltop, "The Hilltop 2-14-1964" (1964). The Hilltop: 1960-70. 74.
http://dh.howard.edu/hilltop_196070/74

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the The Hilltop Digital Archive at Digital Howard @ Howard University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Hilltop: 1960-70 by an authorized administrator of Digital Howard @ Howard University. For more information, please contact lopez.matthews@howard.edu.

Eligible D.C. Residents, Register and Vote!

The Howard
University

Hilltop

Vol. 46, No. 13 Howard University, Washington 1, D. C. February 14, 1964

Foreign Affairs Career Program For Negroes Begins Next June

University officials have announced the establishment of a four-year program designed to prepare Negroes and members of other minority groups for careers in foreign affairs.

The Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, as the new project will be known, is scheduled to begin next June. It will be administered by Howard in cooperation with several agencies of the federal government, including the Department of State.

Howard University President, James M. Nabrit, Jr. (seated at right) is shown as he signed an agreement last week to pool the graduate school resources at Howard with those of four other universities in Washington. The signing of the pact set up a Joint Graduate Consortium between George Washington, Catholic, American, Georgetown, and Howard Universities. The Consortium will enable a graduate student enrolled at any of the schools to take courses at the other four. Shown with Dr. Nabrit are the heads of the Washington area universities. They are (l-r) Dr. Thomas H. Carroll (seated), President of George Washington University; the Right Rev. Msgr. William J. McDonald, rector of Catholic University; Dr. Hurd R. Anderson, President of American University; and the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Georgetown University.

Area Universities Establish Grad. School Consortium

Howard University joins the other area universities—American, Catholic, Georgetown, and George Washington—in establishing a Joint Graduate Consortium which will enable graduate students in any one university to take courses in any of the other four. In each case the student will receive his degree from the school in which he originally enrolled.

The presidents of the universities envision in the graduate school pact the maximum use of materials and teaching resources by its 12,024 graduate students, the establishment of a major scientific research center here that no school could afford to build by itself, the appointment of joint professorships to attract top-notch scholars, and a greater sharing of library and scientific facilities.

This consortium idea is an outgrowth of the efforts of these universities to help solve their mutual problems, which they discussed at regular intervals during the past three years. One other outgrowth of these discussions is the joint responsibility assumed by the universities for the training of Peace Corps volunteers.

During its first year a $5000 contribution from each university, and a $2500 forthcoming from a foundation, will support the project. The offices of the Consortium, housed in the Brookings Institution, will be headed by an executive secretary, Elmer West, now an official at the American Council of Education.

According to Dr. Vincent J. Browne, administrative assistant to the president and director of the program, the plan for the project had its beginning nearly a year ago when a group of presidents of Negro colleges met with State Department officials to discuss the need for a larger number of Negroes and Spanish-speaking Americans in the U.S. Foreign Service. Howard was selected to administer a program which would help prepare members of these groups for careers in foreign affairs, and last October the University received a Ford Foundation grant of $600,000 toward the establishment of the program.

Regarding the need for a program of this type, Dr. Browne said that fewer than 50 of the current 3,700 foreign service officers are Negroes and an equally small number are of Puerto Rican or Mexican-American extraction. During its first year of operation the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program will provide instruction for some 65 students. Forty of the students will have completed their junior year of college by

(Continued on Page 3, col. 2)

Foreign Student Day

If you signed up for the December 5 day, please drop by the Foreign Student Office to indicate whether you can participate on February 27. Your place will be given to another student if you have not come in by February 18. There are a few reservations left which will go on a first come first serve basis.

Thirty-Five Students Elected to Who's Who

Thirty-five seniors from the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Fine Arts and the School of Engineering & Architecture have been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1963-64. These students were among those nominated from approximately 770 colleges and universities.

Each student was chosen because of his scholarship, his participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, his citizenship and service to the school, and his promise of future usefulness.

The students were chosen by a committee composed of a faculty member and a student from each undergraduate school, and several administrators, including the two associate Deans of Students. The project was coordinated by the Office of Student Life.

The selectees are: College of Liberal Arts — Cora E. Bowie, Hemphill, Texas; Dorothy M.

Brown, Washington, D. C.; Stokely Carmichael, Bronx, N.Y.; Alvin J. Chisolm, Jersey City, N.J.; Oscar J. Cole, Jr., Highpoint, N. C.; Lonnie L. Crawford, Evanston, Ill.; Diane Fredericks, Staten Island, N.Y.; Larry S. Gibson, Baltimore, Md.; Russell V. Gill, Washington, D. C.

Edward E. Goode, Boston, Mass.; Brin Hawkins, Washington, D.C.; Norlisha Jackson, Washington, D. C.; E. Carol Jordan, Philadelphia, Penna.; Nathaniel Knight, Baltimore, Md.; Beverly Ledbetter, Houston, Texas; Frank B. Patterson, Washington, D. C.; Marsha D. Pippin, Washington, D. C.; Evelyn Phipps, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Sidney J. Reedy, Jr., Jefferson City, Mo.; Carl D. Robinson, Monroe, La.; Frank J. Satterwhite, Akron, Ohio; Melvin Schnapper, Washington, D. C.; Douglass M. Williams, Dallas, Texas; Phillip Williams, Brunswick, Ga.

College of Fine Arts—Helmar

Cultural Series to Present San Francisco Ballet Feb. 19

Free students tickets will be available in Cramton Auditorium starting Monday, February 17 for American's "most versatile" ballet company, the San Francisco Ballet, which will perform here on February 19 at 8:30 p.m.

Acclaimed throughout the world, the San Francisco Ballet has been hailed by the London Times as "one of America's two chief ballet companies," and has been acclaimed in North and South America, in Asia and in Europe as this country's most versatile dance company.

The San Francisco Ballet, founded in 1933, is America's oldest classical ballet company. It is the company which introduced the full-length "Nutteracker" to American audiences—the colorful spectacle for children and adults which it repeats annually during its Christmas Dance Festival at San Francisco's elaborate War Memorial Opera House in numerous performances to SRO houses. It is the company that first staged the full-length "Swan Lake" and "Coppelia" in America. But while these classic ballets are still in the repertoire, the company has achieved added fame through the new works created by its director and principal choreographer, Lew Christensen.

Christensen has choreographed such outstanding new ballets as "Original Sin," "Fantasma," "Jest of Cards," "Lady of Shalott" and "Con Amore." His "Filling Station," produced in the 1930's, was the first completely American ballet—with American choreography, costumes, sets and music—and it has become a favorite with balletomanes throughout the world.

Under Christensen's direction, the San Francisco Ballet has also become a truly international company. Three tours under the sponsorship of the U.S. State Department have taken the dancers to the Far East, Latin America, the Near East and Central and North Africa. On these tours, the dancers came, were seen, and conquered. Kings, queens, emperors, prime ministers and simple audiences from every walk of life—ballet enthusiasts as well as tired businessmen—fell under their spell. No wonder that Washington has more than once referred to the dancers as "our goodwill ambassadors."

Howard Buys Old Griffith; Pays Estimated $1,500,000

by Larry Greenbaum

After renting Griffith Stadium for the past year, the Howard Administration announced that it had completed the purchase of the former athletic field for an estimated 1.5 million dollars.

The stadium was obtained from the old Washington Senators Baseball Team, which has since moved to Minnesota.

University officials have not made any definite arrangements for the use of the site. Present plans call for the destruction of the existing structures; then official are considering construction of a hospital and other buildings which will be related to the health science field.

An official source, who preferred to remain anonymous, indicated that there were no provisions in existing plans for the building of an athletic field. Previously, there had been much speculation to this effect.

During the interim period before the purchase, University officials had examined the feasibility of erecting a parking area to solve at least part of the major parking problem on campus. This was rejected due to the high expenditure necessary and the reality that buildings would eventually have to be erected on the same site to prepare for the expected increased student enrollment.

Griffith Stadium is situated on seventh and Florida Avenue just south of the Medical School. With its acquisition, the University adds nine acres to the fifty acres of land it already has in use.

This landmark has been the scene of many important athletic events including the World Series, the All Star Game and professional football games. It was also used for the Howard-Lincoln Thanksgiving Day football game.

Work for the Hilltop!

Even if you have no experience in journalism, there is a place for you on the Hilltop. We are in need of reporters, researchers, clerical help, etc.

Be sure to attend the first Hilltop Workshop this Saturday, 12:00 in room 324 A of the University Center.

Hilltop

Melvin Schnapper
Editor-in-Chief

Herbert Mitchell
Managing Editor

Sanford King
Business Manager

Editorial Staff

Feature Editor

News Editor

Sports Editor

Subscription Manager

Distribution

Shirley Rawlins

William Johnson

Larry Greenbaum

Randolph West

Alpha Phi Omega

National Service Fraternity

Reporters

Wilma Jackson, Sheryl Martin, Sandra Gibson, Sandra Olfus, Paula Jewell, Margie Macrea, Larry Wiig.

Sports Staff

Charlie Wilson, Shearon Smith, Wanda Mack, Francis Wongsam, Pat Scott, Nonnie Midgett, Pat Anders, Faye Rice.

Hilltop Publications Board

Carl E. Anderson, Ivan E. Taylor, Winston K. McAllister, Charlie Wilson, Walter Evans.

The Hilltop is issued weekly, except during holidays and final examinations periods by the students of Howard University. The Hilltop office is located in Room 324 A of the University Center. Phone: 7971-285 or DU 7-6100 Ext. 285.

Opinions expressed in letters to the editor and in signed columns and feature articles do not necessarily reflect the views of the editors.

Advertising rates are $1.40 per column inch. Subscriptions are $9.50 for the year.

Eds. Note: This picture was taken at a recent civil defense exhibit on campus. Since it is generally agreed that the next war will not be a conventional one, we can only conclude that the armed individual is a good civilian patriotically defending his air-raid shelter against his neighbors.

VOX POPULI I Didn't Get Mine Either

Dear Editor,

This is to reply to the letter which Mr. Charles Wilson, my Senior Class President, wrote in the last edition of the Hilltop. The manner in which the senior class photographs were chosen was done in order to meet our first deadline as near as possible. The editorial staff of the Bison is fully aware of the flexibility in deadlines, however, we cannot wait until the day before a deadline to do what should have been done months in advance. Had the editorial staff waited for each individual student to send their poses back to the studio in New York, we would be even farther delayed in sending our first copy to the publisher. This year the staff organization, morale, and communication are greatly improved.

If Mr. Wilson is so very interested in the publication of the annual, he had opportunity to prove that. He was a member of the Bison staff and resigned in the beginning of the school year. Why should he waste his valuable time in writing propaganda to the Hilltop, when he can utilize his talents in the production of the Bison?

Mr. Wilson, I am sorry you were not pleased with your senior class photograph. It was a good pose and no one would ever know that it was anyone except Mr. Charles Wilson.

My humblest apologies to any members of my class who were not satisfied with their poses. If you are interested, you may drop by the Bison office and I will offer explanation as to why this procedure was used.

Yours truly,
Frank B. Patterson
Editor-in-Chief

P.S. I didn't get the picture which I asked for either. My proofs were sent back the day after I received them, which was before the procedure was changed.

An S.O.S. from Carver Hall

Dear Editor:

As the evening of Friday, February 7th was turning the morning of the 8th, I don't remember the exact time, an approaching din was heard in Carver Hall. The night was dark, and Elm St. was not too bright, for street lights are few and far between.

Soon, a gang of so-called blockboys were directly in front of Carver Hall attempting to entice some residents to come out and prove their worth breaking bottles, pitching rocks about, the "blockboys" (twenty of them) were a pretty formidable sight to the Carver Hall intellectuals; most of them covered in their hallways, or if they were arriving home, postponed their arrival for a half-hour. Fortunately, there was no coming or going for those few moments that the blockboys were threatening. For the good of everyone, Carver Hall residents that night were disciples of non-violence (albeit, a rather cowardly brand of non-violence).

This letter is not meant to bother anyone or to correct any situation. It's just to let the parents and friends of the South Campus residents, and some of the newcomers know that all is not well in the area surrounding Elm and Third. The police do not care; the social scientists neither. Maybe some Howard students will, after one of their boyfriends or girlfriends get maimed or even killed by those harmless people who just hang around, the Blockboys.

A Carver Hall Resident

REWARD

Will the person who picked up a blue bookbag in Founders Library Lobby, Mon. at 7:00 p.m. please return the five notebooks to the School of Religion Library and collect $10.00. No Questions Asked.

A Valentine Poem

To Rip and Saint Valentine
by Darry Taylor

Rip Valentine was in his tower
Studying for the sainthood, when,
Frozen and straving, our two Lovers' bodies' solidified while Chained up naked and cold on An arctic wastelands of conscience.

Too, when on bleak wilderness,
Unhelped, we fought—and are still
Fighting—sub-zero, cryogenic Universals . . . When there were no
Spoken words on confessions;
when
Our actions and inter-reactions
Were unexplained and spontaneous.

Now, moralists, priests, saints,
too,
Demand labels for our feelings.
They do not know: outside our Heatless, fresh-frozen relationship
All is spoiling: the world, the Sub-zero people in it . . . all!

Yet, Valentine, saint of sweet joy
And grief, Why do you require names?
Is not the Lovers' mutual need enough?
Why should you place this beautiful
Snowflake we have into the warm,
Analytical womb of definition, in
The end, calling it mere Love.

Thank You

Dear Editor:

The Placement and Employment Office of Howard University prepares a wonderful service in supplying jobs for the students. Mrs. Coombs, the manager of the service, devotes her entire efforts to help Howard's students. Many times she addressed the Engineering seminar class and told them how to prepare for a job interview. This amiable and dignified lady shows true dedication to her job.

Foreign students especially need to heed the wise counsel of the Office of Student Employment and graduate placement. From personal experience, I can say that this office does everything possible to help students, and alumni. Graduate seniors, and you confronted with the problem of getting a job? Contact the Employment office and get that job.
David Tzou

Hilltop Calendar

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14

Alpha Phi Alpha Dance; University Ballroom; 9-1 a.m.
Political Science Society; Career Seminar
Frosh Dental Hygiene Class Valentine Dance 9-1 a.m. Dent School Lounge
Slowe Hall Sweetheart Dance, 8-12

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 15

Arnold Air Society Dance; University Ballroom; 8-12
Swimming; HU vs Bloomsburg College (away)
Basketball; HU vs Va. State (Home)

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 16

Kappa Alpha Psi, Guide Right Program; Kappa House 2-5
University Movie; Biology Greenhouse; 3 and 8 p.m.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18

Student Assembly Meeting; University Center; 4:30 p.m.
Neighbors, Inc. "A Musical Concert" Cramton Auditorium
Basketball; (JV) HU vs Strayer's Jr. College (Home)
Swimming; HU vs Galludet (Away) 4 p.m.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20

AFROTC Ball; Bowling Air Force Base; 9-1 a.m.

Let's Get Out the Vote!

Voting reports have indicated that voter registration has been lightest in the central areas of the city, where Negro residence is the most dense. Although all of the city's civic organizations are participating in voter registration, more needs to be done in the predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

Howard students should be aware that Washington's political apathy can in part be attributed to its lack of home rule, but the greatest factor is probably that most of the Negroes in the central areas have had little education, little citizenship training, and if they are from the South, no history of voting. It is for this reason that a special effort is necessary to encourage registration in these areas. Any one of the local chapters of SNCC, CORE, SCLC, or the NAACP would be delighted to have student volunteers. For the student it could be a valuable lesson in citizenship.

It goes without saying that we consider it the duty of every qualified member of the Howard community to add his name to the polls.

Shopping for a Career?

With the announcement that the University is going to establish a four-year program to prepare Negroes and members of other minority groups for foreign affairs careers, it would be well to consider the implications and opportunities of this move.

The implications are obvious. There are very few Negroes in the State Department or in other governmental agencies which deal in international relations. This has caused our government some embarrassment with the emerging African and Asian countries. Where before there was possible discrimination, now there is a positive attempt to enroll qualified Negroes. Judged in this light, the recent appointment of Carl Rowan as head of the United States Information Agency should be viewed as something more than a political move by President Johnson.

The opportunities presented by this program cannot be over-emphasized. Here is a chance to begin a career as a Foreign Service Officer. The Foreign Service Officer is one of the most envied government employees. Students who have not decided on a specific career or who have already chosen to go into public service would do well to consider this program.

Current annual salary for Foreign Service Officers begins at $5,795. With promotions and annual increments, under the present scale, salaries range upwards of $20,000 annually for a Career Ambassador. Applications are available at the offices of Dr. William Banner and Dr. Harold Lewis in Founders Library.

Toward Better Facilities

As the Washington Post has stated, the universities participating in the graduate school consortium "have taken a significant step toward pooling their resources to create better facilities for graduate study and research." Not only will graduate students in the area benefit from this program, but there will be less need to go out of town for graduate work for those who are District residents.

There is also the possibility that sometimes in the future the participating schools—Howard, Georgetown, George Washington, and American University—will have a similar program for the undergraduate bodies.

President Nabrit and the other university presidents are to be congratulated for this imaginative move.

Philosophy Department is Oldest at Howard

by Prof. Eugene C. Holmes,
Head, Department of Philosophy

The Philosophy Department has the distinction of being one of the oldest in the College of Liberal Arts, having been established by the late Professor Alain L. Locke in 1912. It was then a one-man department, joined with education. Moreover, it was the only department in a predominantly Negro school for many years and kept its independence as a department until now. The department now has a full time staff of six persons. Professors Holmes and Banner, Assistant Professors Tejera, Kleppner, Eddins and Mr. Snowden. Professor McAllister, the Director of Admissions, is part time.

The Department serves the entire University. It offers courses in general education as well as electives to many colleges such as Pharmacy, Law, Engineering, Fine Arts and Home Economics. Since the inception of the Graduate School, it has awarded the M.A. degree, many of its holders having gone on to graduate school to obtain the Ph. D. degree. Professor Eddins, who taught at the University of Colorado, received the M.A. in 1949 at Howard. Mr. Snowden, a 1958 graduate is now serving as an instructor in the department.

Offerings Varied

In the introductory required courses, the department's aims are to provide background for the student in General Education. The course in Principles of Reasoning, for example, is designed to provide the student with some acquaintance with logic and logical methods and the course in Scientific Method is designed to give science majors a philosophical approach to the respective sciences. The Department is a member of the Social Science division and provides courses in the Social Science Sequence.

Since our offerings are interdisciplinary as well as interdisciplinary and our respective training has been of a different nature, the Department has been able to meet the needs of most liberal arts students, particularly by the participation of its staff in both the Social Science course, the Humanities course, as well as in all of the courses in the Honors Program.

As to career opportunities and possibilities for majors, these are varied since many of our majors take and pass the Civil Service examinations in the Social Sciences and our graduate students have never experienced difficulties in securing employment as teachers or as research workers in many fields.

Note: The Philosophy Club which had been very inactive will be reactivated this year under the direction of Drs. Tejera, Eddins and Mr. Snowden. There is also a chapter of the honorary philosophy society Phi Sigma Tau.

Members of the Philosophy Department are (seated l. to r.) Dr. Eugene C. Holmes, Head of the Department, Prof. Kleppner, (standing l. to r.) Professors Victorino Tejera, William McAllister, and William Banner. Not pictured are Mr. Conrad Snowden and Prof. Eddins.

Applications Now Available

(Continued from Page 1, col. 3) next June, while the remainder will have finished their undergraduate training by then. According to present plans, only juniors will be eligible to apply for the program after this year.

Applications Available

Applications are available now and may be obtained by writing to the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, Howard University. Since application forms must be completed and returned not later than March 15, Dr. Browne has suggested that students who wish to apply write for application forms not later than March 1.

Juniors who participate in the program will come to Washington next summer to serve internships at selected governmental agencies, the State Department, Agency for International Development, U.S. Information Agency, and possibly one or two others. Next fall the students will return to their respective colleges, where they will complete a final year of undergraduate study. During their senior year the students will be visited by program officials, who will provide counseling and supplementary educational assistance.

Graduate Study

Following graduation in June, 1965, some 25 of the original 40 participants will receive fellowships for a year of graduate study in foreign affairs at selected universities throughout the country. The fellowship awards will range upwards to $4,000, depending upon the costs at various graduate institutions.

Seniors selected for the program during its first year will serve summer internships in Washington also, provided a sufficient number of vacancies can be found. Fellowships for graduate study during the 1964-65 school year will be awarded those seniors selected to continue in the program.

Following completion of the year of graduate study, all participants will be required to take two governmental examinations, the Federal Entrance Examination and the Foreign Service Officer Examination.

To be eligible to participate in the Foreign Affairs Scholars Program, students must meet the basic requirements regarding citizenship and age applicable to U.S. citizens.

RECRUITMENT CALENDAR

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14

Tennessee Valley Authority, Room 1016 E & A Bldg.
AI Research Manufacturing Co., of Arizona, Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

Merick & Co., Inc., Rahway, N.J., Graduate Placement Office

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17

The Boeing Company, Seattle, Wash., Room 1028, E & A Bldg.

Lockheed-Georgia Company, Marietta, Ga., Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

H. J. Heinz Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., Room 242, Administration Bldg.

Civil Service Commission, City of Detroit, Michigan, Graduate Placement Office

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18

Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y., Room 1028, E & A Bldg.

Texaco Inc., (N.Y.) Foreign Operations and other Divisions, Room 242, Adm. Bldg.

Thompson Ramo Woodridge, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, Graduate Placement Office

The Cleveland Electrical Illuminating Co., Cleveland, Ohio, Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., New York, Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

Inerpublic Incorporated, New York City, Room 242, Administration Bldg.

Hercules Power Co., Wilmington, Delaware, Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

Esso Research and Engineering Co., Linden, N.J., Adm. Bldg.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20

Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C., Room 1028, E & A Bldg.

Joseph E. Seagram and Sons, Inc., Baltimore, Md., Room 1016, E & A Bldg.

Non-West Concerts Begin with Nigerian Drummer Akin Euba

The Nigerian program, which was held February 6 in Ira Aldridge Theatre featuring a lecture and African drum demonstration by Akin Euba, director of music for the Nigerian Broadcasting Company inaugurated a series of non-Western music concerts.

Other features of the music series will include a lecture-demonstration of Japanese music by Robert Garfias, March 23; a concert of Indian music by the Indian Study Group of Wesleyan University, April 2; and a performance of Nigerian music by Solomon Ilori and his Company of 12 singers, dancers and drummers. The series is open to the public, and there is no charge for admission.

Negro History Test

How Many Can You Answer?

In June, 1939, a test of general knowledge of the Negro in the American social order was given to 132 Howard seniors. The results of this test was amazing to say the least. They showed just how little the Negro college students know about themselves as a race.

In commemoration of Negro History Week, the History Club has selected fifteen of the questions from that test. Let us see how much progress Howard students have made in twenty-five years.

QUIZ

1. The Emancipation Proclamation was issued by
2. Who was the author of Uncle Tom's Cabin?
3. When were the first Negroes brought to and sold in the United States?
4. Who was the first American Negro killed in the Revolutionary War?

5. Who was the author of the "National Negro Anthem"?
6. Marcus Garvey was the founder of
7. What is the official publication of the NAACP?
8. Who was Nat Turner?
9. Who was Blanche Kelso Bruce?
10. What are the general provisions of the 15th Amendment?
11. What are the general provisions of the 14th Amendment?
12. Who was the founder of the AME Church?
13. Name an early Negro woman poet.
14. What was the famous composition of W. C. Handy?
15. Name one of the earliest Negro scientists.

Marilyn Bowie, Chairman of the committee on Negro History Week

Beverly Green, President of the History Club Survey compiled by
Dean Charles Thompson

Air Force Drill Team Flies to Drill Meet

by Robert Carpenter

Howard's Andrew D. Turner Memorial Trick Drill Team (Air Force ROTC) flew to Tucson, Arizona, to participate in the Sunshine City Drill Meet.

This competition is sponsored by the AFROTC detachment at the University of Arizona as a part of the 4th Annual Aerospace and Arizona Day celebration held in Tucson from February 7-9.

This is the team's first competition this year. One of the most respected ROTC drill teams in the East, the Andrew D. Turner unit is rated well within the top twenty drill teams in the nation. It placed ninth nationally in 1962.

As in the past, this event was jointly sponsored by USAF activities and the City of Tucson. More than 100,000 people witnessed the many events during the weekend.

The AFROTC detachment at the University of Arizona sponsored the Sunshine City Drill Meet, a downtown parade witnessed by 35 to 40 thousand people. Arnold Air Society and Angel Flight meetings and workshops, and other related activities took place during the three-day period.

In addition to the activities, there were numerous exhibits and an air show at nearby Davis-Monthan Air Force Base.

The Sunshine City Drill Meet has become the largest competition of its type in the United States. Approximately 1,000 cadets, Angels, and sponsors representing 37 drill teams participated in the 1963 meet.

Commanding the Andrew D. Turner team is Cadet 1st Lieutenant Jackson Davis. Also flying to Tucson were Cadet Colonel John Raymond, Cadet Majors Robert Carpenter and Alvin Johnson, and Cadet 1st Class Perry Withers. Howard Air Science instructor, John C. Dungee supervised the cadets.

Marsha Pippin Hosts Auto Show

The epitome of feminine charm and beauty of Howard University—Miss Marsha Pippin—graced the elaborate affair of the Annual Auto Show at the D.C. Armory on Saturday, February 1, 1964.

She and four other area campus queens (Maryland U., George Washington U., Catholic U., and American U.) agreed to reign for one night. Miss Pippin reigned on February 1.

Prior to the show, the five queens promoted the show by riding through town in a 1917 Maxwell convertible. The Washington Post carried a picture and story of the event.

Miss Pippin had the honor of presenting Commissioner Tobriner with the first pass to the show.

Senator Plans Student Reception

Senator Harrison A. Williams (D-N.J.) has announced plans for the massive "get to know each other reception" on Wednesday, February 19 for all

New Jersey students in the Washington area. The reception will be held in the Caucus Room in the Old Senate Building from 5:30 to 7:30.

Holland's Goal Edges Delaware

The Bison Cagers almost lost a 17 point lead with only eight minutes left on the clock, but managed to squeak by Delaware State 79-78 in a CIAA game Saturday. Will Holland's rebound basket in the last 35 seconds saved the game for Howard whose record stands at 7-10 for the year.

Earlier that week, Catholic University scored 51 points in the second half and smothered Howard 91-58. Sharpshooter Bill Leahy's 34 points spearheaded the Cardinals.

In the Delaware game the Bisons streaked from a 4 point half time lead to a 61-47 advantage with only eight minutes left in the game. Then State, using a full court press, put on a tremendous drive to come within one point, 77-76 with only forty seconds left.

Howard's Paul Gist was fouled and when he missed the free throw, Holland dropped in the winning basket. Holland finished with 25 points to top all scorers and Bison Aaron Shingler chipped in 20 more. Albert Rue was high for State with 22 points.

The "Handwriting was on the Wall" for the Catholic U. game as C. U. jumped into a quick 8-0 lead and was never headed. The Cardinals held a 40-31 edge at the half.

Leahy and Charlie Boylan took over in the second half and steadily increased the Cardinal advantage. Boylan finished with 22 points, while Aaron Shingler scored 20 points for Howard.

Hustling Charlie Beeton attempts a hook shot in the Delaware game

Undefeated Sharks Win 2

What would you do if you were coaching Howard's undefeated swimming team, after they had just swamped Hampton 71-24 and Morgan 66-29, and had to choose an outstanding swimmer from a list that included:

1. Aaron Richardson who set CIAA records in the 200 yard freestyle (2:13) and the 200 yard backstroke (2:29) and then helped break a Bison record for the 400 yard free style relay (3:49.5).

2. Emmert Guler, who joined Richardson, Herb Mack and Sam East on the relay team and broke the Bison 100 yard freestyle record for the fourth time this year (56 seconds).

3. Lafayette Jackson who is undefeated in CIAA diving competition or

4. Kendall Flowers who broke a team record in the 200 yard backstroke (2:46).

Whoever you chose, you will be able to see him in action in the CIAA championships, which occur February 20, 21, 22 at Morgan State. The Sharks are heavily favored to come away with the title for the third year in a row.

The tank's last home meet is February 18 against Gallaudet where they will try to preserve their winning streak which stands at eleven wins.

Modern Dance Open to All Students

by Faye Rice

Modern Dance, an interesting and well-known art of today, has become one of the popular and foremost activities on Howard's Campus. The Physical Education Department sponsors the dance program for men and women. They feel that dancing is healthful to all parts of the body, as well as enjoyable to its participants.

Truth Within One's Soul
"The creation of dance to one who seeks passionately to state in rhythmic movement the truth within his own soul is an art," expresses the Modern Dance Club's slogan.

The intermediate and advanced dance clubs are under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Tate. They meet Monday's, Wednesday's and Friday's between 3:30-5:30 p.m. Mrs. Tate, who is in her second year teaching at Howard, enjoys her work immensely.

Mrs. Maida Withers, a graduate of the University of Utah in dance, instructs the beginning group. Her classes are also held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 3:30-5:30 p.m.

Both instructors stress technique and rhythmic movement in a manner that appeals to their students. Carol Spencer, an advanced student, comments "dancing gives me a way to express myself. It's something I can make my own."

The Enticing Atmosphere

New members, male and female, are welcomed to join the Modern Dance Club anytime. Now is an especially good time to join because of the new semester.

The Dance Club's next performance will be a joint concert with Bennington College Dance Company, presenting approximately forty members from Howard University's Dance Club. The program will be held February 28, 1964 at 8:30 p.m. in Cramton Auditorium. All are welcomed to attend and enjoy the enticing atmosphere created by the members of the Dance Club as they perform once again.

All Athletes intending to participate in any spring sport must take a physical examination given Feb. 28th and 29th in the men's corrective gym.

Winston Alexis Named 1st Team All American

Howard University soccer star, Winston Alexis, has been named to the first string All-American soccer team. The six-foot-three junior who has played center-forward for the Booters for the past three years, is the sixth Howard athlete to be named to this squad.

Carlos Paul Honored

Teammate Carlos Paul, captain and goalkeeper of the Booters, was named to an honorable mention berth on the fifty-five member team. Both Alexis and Paul are natives of Trinidad.

Alexis is the second player in Howard's history to be named to a first-string All-American team. The other was soccer star Peter Hezekiah who made the squad twice, once as a first team player.

Other Howard All-American players besides Alexis, Hezekiah, and Paul include: Winston Cook, Mac Donald Gibbs, Aloysius Charles, and Ernest Ikepe. All of these athletes won their award as soccer players.

Sports Briefs

Debaters Win Trophy; J.V. Undefeated; Kappas Win Grapplers Lose

by Nonnie Midgett

Indoor Track

The Bison Indoor track team ran first in their heat in the District of Columbia meet and the Philadelphia Inquirer meet. In the former meet their time was 3:38 and in the latter it was 3:33.

For their victory in the Inquirer meet the team of Nixon Asomoni, James Stenbridge, Raymond Fleming and George Hairston received goal medals.

Volleyball Tournament

Beginning February 18, the women's P.E. Department will sponsor a volleyball tournament from 5:30-7:30 every Tuesday. Girls may sign up from 12-1 everyday until February 16 for this event. Tophies and emblems will be awarded.

J.V. Basketball Undefeated

Tim Collier, who has averaged 12.4 points a game, led Howard's J.V. Basketball team to a 5-0 record including wins over Strayer, Millersville, Delaware (2) and Morgan. Vernon Haley, Michael Freeman and Lemuel Dowdy have been averaging in double figures for the J.V.

Liston-Clay Fight Here

The Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight will be shown at Cramton auditorium February 25 at 9 p.m. All tickets will be seven dollars and are on sale at the Cramton Auditorium Box Office.

Debaters Win Trophy

The Howard Debating team topped 19 entrants in the 6th annual Morgan invitation tournament and brought home the best negative team trophy. Frank Schubert and Tom Holt make up the team which won the trophy. It is displayed in Founders Library.

After this rousing victory, the team tied Johns Hopkins and crushed Virginia Union with Schubert and Glöster Current Sports . . .

New Gym Welcomed

by Larry Greenbaum

One of the most miserable situations that a Howard student has to face is trying to find a comfortable place to sit in Banneker Gymnasium. Not only is the gym inadequate for the rising university enrollment, but it is disgusting to sit in a basketball game not knowing how much time is left or which team is ahead.

Things have been so bad that this conversation was recently overheard between a young couple in the shrubbery behind Founders Library.

Boy—"How about making it over to the basketball game at Banneker tonight?"

Girl—"I'd rather die than sit in that hot, overcrowded gym."

Boy—"You're a poor sport; if I'd known you were that kind of girl, I'd never have asked you out on a date."

Girl—"But I promised my mother!"
(after the game)

Girl (begging)—"Please don't hate me."

Boy—"How can I hate someone who will put up with that gymnasium all for me???"

In reality, Banneker may not be as bad as that, but after seeing the new gymnasium, one is left to wonder how we could have put up with it for so long.

In contrast to Banneker, the new University Gymnasium has two spacious basketball courts with a seating capacity of 2500 in the main roundball arena. These seats will be the permanent chair type seating instead of the wooden "backbreakers" found at you know where.

Just off the main entrance to the building is the swimming pool, a 75-foot long six lane structure, which will be equipped with a timing device that automatically records the winner of a race and his time. The results will then be manually flushed to a large scoreboard for all to see.

For those interested in handball, there will be courts available and for those interested in relaxing, there will be a student lounge.

Other facilities include: a padded wrestling room; a research laboratory; adequate shower and locker space; three spacious classrooms and a tunnel leading directly to the athletic field.

Although no one will set a definite opening date, there are many who will be glad when they will be able to relax while watching a sporting event.

John Delgado wins with a fractured ankle

Photo by Keyon Camper

Grapplers Lose

Dropping a 15-13 decision to Lincoln University, Howard wrestlers absorbed their second straight home defeat, Saturday, Feb. 8, on the Bison mat.

Against Norfolk State on Feb. 3, the Bisons were decisioned 25-19. However, John Delgado a 167-pounder, provided a moment of glory by pinning State's Bob Lee, after suffering a fractured ankle of which he was unaware. Delgado won the match in 7:47 of the final period.

To add glitter to the transient moment, CIAA 157 pound champion Staley Jackson continued his victorious skein by quickly pinning Norfolk's Dick Brooks in 2:55 of the first period. Other Bison winners included Lester Johnson in 115 pound class, William Lawson 147 pound division and Milan Fitts in 177 pound class.

Intramural Action

After being behind by as much as twelve points early in the first quarter, the aroused Kappa Alpha Psi Cagers came from behind in the final minutes to defeat Omega Psi Phi 57-49. Tom Morgan and Charlie Wilson led the Kappa's with 18 and 12 points respectively.

In other fraternity action Alpha Phi Omega led by Joseph Marshall's 21 points romped over Alpha Phi Alpha 64-34 to round out last weeks intramural games.